This action involves two songs titles. Song (1.) "Try To Leave Me If You Can" which was sampled and illegally used within and throughout song (2.) titled "For The Love". Defendant John Jackson pka (Fabolous the rapper) is the recording artist involved in this action. Upon information and belief, The Universal Music Group is the parent company of " Island Def Jam Records or the Island Def Jam Music Group which to plaintiff knowledge umbrellas Desert Storm and Kila /Killa Records, the affiliated companies also involved in wrongfully using plaintiff song "Try To Leave Me If You Can" Note: (Exhibit a.) which shows Def Jam Records and its subsidiary labels Desert Storm and Killa Records as being affiliated record labels. This is again reflected in further exhibits within this complaint

First Cause Of Action: Copyright Infringement

1. In December of 2012 plaintiff found out that his song "Try To Leave Me If You Can" (herein after referred to as ("Try To Leave Me") was illegally sampled and used within and throughout defendant John Davis Jackson's (hereafter referred to as Fabolous) song titled "For The Love".
2. Plaintiff further found out that "For The Love" was included in the Fabolous Soul Tape (2.) Cd, (Exhibit B.) his Soul Collection Cd (Exhibit C.) and his video performance of "For The Love." (Exhibits D). Based on plaintiff research, these products were commercially released on "The Island Def Jam Record" label or one of its subsidiary labels. These releases took place somewhere between November 22, 2012 and May 4th 2013.

3. Upon information and belief, defendant Fabolous is primarily under exclusive contract with Island Def Jam Records Exhibit (E) and normally, the terms of an exclusive recording contract, would not allow anyone outside of "Island Def Jam Records" or its affiliated subsidiary labels, to record and or release any product pertaining to Fabolous.
4. Upon information and belief, none of the subject defendants attempted to get a mechanical license clearance from the writer's or the writer's publisher (The Clyde Otis Music Group) to use "Try To Leave Me" within the song "For The Love."
5. This legal procedure is clearly explained by Peter S. Shukat, the founder and partner of the New York based entertainment law firm Shukat Arrow Hafer Weber & Herbsman, L.L.P. who personally oversees the business affairs and estates of John Lennon, Bob Moly, Barry White, Miles Davis as well as many of today's contemporary celebrities. Peter Shukat's YouTube presentation can be obtained by Googling, "Peter Shukat Sampling licenses".
6. Note: § Sampling is a form of copying someone else's music (sound recording and underlying composition)
§ You will be required to pay a fee and/or royalties and credit (mention) the original writers/ copyright owner from which the sample is taken as a condition of any license.

§ Sampling will infringe copyright in the music and/or the sound recording, if a 'substantial part' of the original is used without permission. Sample considered 'substantial' by reference to quality rather than length.

Westbound Records and Bridgeport Music v No Limit Films (2004)

the case centered on the song 100 Miles and Runnin, which samples a three-note guitar riff from Get Off Your Ass and Jam by George Clinton and Funkadelic. The song was included in the 1998 movie I Got the Hook Up by No Limit Films In the two-second sample, the guitar pitch has been lowered, and the copied piece was "looped" and extended to 16 beats. The sample appears five times in the new song.

A US federal appeals court ruled that recording artists should licence every musical sample included in their work even minor, edited, unrecognizable snippets of music. The court posed the question "If you cannot pirate the whole sound recording, can you 'lift' or 'sample' something less than the whole?" The Court's answer to this was NO; and the court added "Get a license or do not sample - we do not see this as stifling creativity in any significant way."

7. As mentioned above, the song "For The Love" was (a) included in the CD title "Fabolous Soul Tape 2," (b) Was included in the Fabolous CD title "Soul Collection" and (c) included in a video whereas Fabolous performs "For The Love"(can view from YouTube) . As a result of this wrongful act, plaintiff Herman Kelley as writer of "Try To Leave Me" have suffered from being denied Mechanical Royalties, Performance Royalties like radio royalties that are paid by national radio stations akin-to WBLS 107.5 and "Hot 97" 105.7 and their syndicated stations across the country that played "For The Love" heavily during the period 11-22-2012 until around 03/01/ 13.
8. Digital Download royalties, Ringtone royalties, and multiple unspecified sauces of performance income were lost to plaintiff due to defendants failure to obtain a licenses.
9. These acts by the defendants have injured plaintiff financially in the past and continues to date, to cause him mental and emotional harm.

Mechanical Royalties: In general, Mechanical Royalties are those royalties derived from actual CD sells from street stores, download sells from various Internet sights like Cd Universe, Best Buy, Amazon and many other venues.

Performance Royalties: As above mentioned are royalties derived from radio stations that play music, Internet websites, Restraints, Nightclubs, Airplanes, Television, Motion pictures and other sauces of performance outlets that expose music to the public for a fee.

10. Upon information and believe. Defendants Island Def Jam Records Defendant Fabolous and all other related entities of the defense, has wrongfully and willfully failed to register "Try To Leave Me" with" the performance rights society Broadcast Music Incorporated (B.M.I.) regarding Plaintiff writer credit entitlements and such negligents has and is, depriving him from collecting world wide performance royalties and writer recognition credits for his contribution to subject song "For The Love".
11. Plaintiff is a writer and producer of subject song, "Try To Leave Me." and is a party to the copyright registration of "Try To Leave Me" as validated by Exhibit (F and f 1.), the copyright registration and Exhibit (G) a xerox copy of the original physical 45rpm recording of "Try To Leave Me" which the sample used in "For The Love" was sampled from.
12. Plaintiff as a writer/producer of the lyrics also formatted the musical arrangement, structured the background arrangement, and performed one of the background parts during the recording production process of "Try To Leave Me" in 1974.

Second Cause Of Action: Violation Of Plaintiff Poetic License

13. Upon information and belief defendants are also in violation of Plaintiff Poetic License rights.
14. Apparently, defendants wrongfully and willfully acted as though they were the writers of plaintiffs' song by extracting a specific section of it from the original master and in doing so, they made unauthorized alterations that speeded up the tempo, distorted and damaged the musical and vocal characteristics of plaintiffs' song.
15. Upon information and belief, it is only the plaintiff, his co-writers, or the writer's publisher that maintain exclusive right under the rule of poetic license to make creative changes in their copyrighted work. Often time's contemporary artist along with their Records labels take advantage of veteran writers and or their publisher, assuming they have decease or have withdrawn from the industry they wrongfully and willfully use their copyrighted work for there on financial gain. It is alleged by plaintiff that this was the Consciousness defendants acted upon in violating plaintiff common law poetic license rights.

Third Cause Of Action: Fraudulent Deceit and Conspiring To Swindle

16. According to contrary listings posted on multiple websites whereas some websites posted subject CDs' as a free download, other sites posted subject CDs were for sell. Note: the website listings for free downloads Exhibits (H. h(a) and h (b) and the websites that list subject products for sell Exhibit (I. i (a) and i (b). It is plaintiff belief that defendants strategy of having free downloads on certain websites and sells of CDs on certain other sites, was purposely done to imply that the Fabolous CDs and Video being use were solely for promotional use, however; based on plaintiff findings, it appears that it was an illusive an deceitful plot used to convince and keep plaintiff from Knowing that products involving his song were generating income. At any rate; none of the defendants, its subsidiary entities, administrative departments and or branches of the defendants, had the right to exploit plaintiff song in any way.

17. It is also plaintiff firm belief that Fabolous, in connection with his record label Island Def Jam Records and or their affiliated subsidiary entities, have acquired an account with Google, YouTube and all other websites that air the video titled "For The Love" and offer either sells or free downloads of all the above mentioned products that include plaintiff song "Try To Leave Me." Plaintiff further believe that it is common practice for websites to pay a fee to famous Rapp celebrities like fabulous because they attract business traffic to their websites of which the websites capitalize on from clients who advertise their goods and or services from these sites.
18. For instance; the website "Free Music Tapes @ DatPiff.com" posted on 11-22-2012 that the Fabolous Soul Tape 2. CD Was viewed 1,856,701 times and was downloaded 791,897 times from their website which means that the artist fabulous attracted 1,856,701 viewers to that site and those 1,856,701 viewers were exposed to advertisements listed on the site, on the other hand, plaintiff have been swindled and deprived of any income generated from the exploitation of his song altogether.

Note (Exhibit (J) confirming the amount of views and downloads made.

Fourth Cause Of Action: Mental Anguish

19. As a result of the wrongs inflicted upon plaintiff from 2013 to date, has suffered from feelings of distress, anxiety and depression which interferes with his creative ability and hinders his inspiration to write. These harmful inflictions such as (a) deprivation of writer credits and recognition (b) deprivation of the opportunity to expand his repartition as a writer and (c) and deprivation of not receiving monitorial compensation for his contribution to the song "For The Love."
20. These losses are detrimental to plaintiff in that he needs every penny earned from his royalties to supplement his fragile annual retirement income.
21. A legal example is the case of the shop, which failed to deliver the bridal gown in time for the wedding-mental anguish flows naturally (along with the bride's tears) from such a breach.
22. To no avail, plaintiff's publisher (The Clyde Otis Music Group) after being informed of this infringement, informed plaintiff that they had found out who defendant fabulous' attorney was and had sent him several emails addressing this matter, in order to prevent litigation, however; to date, his attorney has failed to respond and appear to be ignoring our efforts to resolve this issue out side of court. I have personally attempted to contact someone in business affairs at The Island Def Jam Music Group by phone and by physically going to their location at 1755 Broadway

I declare under penalty of perjury that the forgoing is true.

Information concerning copyright in musical compositions

When to Use Form E. Form E is appropriate for unpublished and published musical compositions by authors who are U.S. citizens or domiciliaries, and for musical compositions first published in the United States.

What is a "Musical Composition"? The term "musical composition" includes compositions consisting of music alone, or of words and music combined. It also includes arrangements and other versions of earlier compositions, if new copyrightable work of authorship has been added.

Song Lyrics Alone. The term "musical composition" does not include song poems and other works consisting of words without music. Works of that type are not registrable for copyright in unpublished form.

Sound Recordings. Phonograph records, tape recordings, and other sound recordings are not regarded as "copies" of the musical compositions recorded on them, and are not acceptable for copyright registration of musical compositions. For purposes of deposit, the musical compositions should be written in some form of legible notation. If the composition contains words, they should be written above or beneath the notes to which they are sung.

Duration of Copyright. Statutory copyright begins on the date the work was first published, or, if the work was registered for copyright in unpublished form, copyright begins on the date of registration. In either case, copyright lasts for 28 years, and may be renewed for a second 28-year term.

Unpublished musical compositions

How to Register a Claim. To obtain copyright registration, mail to the Register of Copyrights, Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. 20559, one complete copy of the musical composition, an application Form E, properly completed and signed, and a fee of $6. Manuscripts are not returned, so do not send your only copy.

Procedure to Follow if Work is Later Published. If the work is later reproduced in copies and published, it is necessary to make a second registration, following the procedure outlined below. To maintain copyright protection, all copies of the published edition must contain a copyright notice in the required form and position.

Published musical compositions

What is "Publication"? Publication, generally, means the sale, placing on sale, or public distribution of copies. Limited distribution of so-called "professional" copies ordinarily would not constitute publication. However, since the dividing line between a preliminary distribution and actual publication may be difficult to determine, it is wise for the author to affix notice of copyright to copies that are to be circulated beyond his control.

all copies published in the United States contain the statutory copyright notice. This notice shall appear on the title page or first page of music and must consist of three elements:

How to Secure Copyright in a Published Musical Composition:

- 1. Produce copies with copyright notice, by printing or other means of reproduction.
2. Publish the work.
3. Register the copyright claim, following the instructions on page 1 of this form.

1. The word "Copyright," the abbreviation "Copr.," or the symbol ©. Use of the symbol © may result in securing copyright in countries which are parties to the Universal Copyright Convention.

2. The year date of publication. This is ordinarily the date when copies were first placed on sale, sold, or publicly distributed. However, if the work has been registered for copyright in unpublished form, the notice should contain the year of registration; or, if there is new copyrightable matter in the published version, it should include both dates.

3. The name of the copyright owner (or owners). Example: © John Doe 1973

The Copyright Notice. In order to secure and maintain copyright protection for a published work, it is essential that

NOTE: If copies are published without the required notice the right to secure copyright is lost and cannot be restored.
